

Anacostia Waterfront, Washington, DC

Urban Land Institute Advisory Services

Washington, DC is defined by two rivers, the Potomac and the Anacostia. The Anacostia is definitely the lesser-known of the two, fragmented by infrastructure, former industrial sites and largely without attractive public spaces.

The Anacostia River corridor has undergone dramatic changes in the last ten years and is now the focus of the city's Anacostia Waterfront Initiative (AWI). This focus of attention has led to the development of conceptual plan for the communities on both sides of the river. Mayor Anthony A. Williams has set the restoration of the Anacostia waterfront as a top priority for his administration.

Urban Land Institute Blue Ribbon Team

In cooperation with the District of Columbia's Office of City Planning, the Urban Land Institute Advisory Services Program convened a Blue Ribbon Team of internationally recognized waterfront redevelopment experts from a broad spectrum of disciplines. The goal of ULI's Advisory Services Program is to bring expertise and experience in the field of real estate to bear on complex new land use development projects, programming, and policies. Ad Hereijgers and Frank Uffen were invited to the advisory team to review the plans and advise Mayor Williams on implementation strategy and governance/management structure.
